Council raises retail ceiling on gas prices

By BARTON REPPERT
Associated Press Writer

Reactions of service station operators ranged from elation to anger as the federal Cost of Living Council raised retail ceiling prices for gasoline.

Dealers in western New York called off a protest shutdown for this weekend after the council's announcement Friday. Organizers agreed to end a shutdown in the St. Louis area Monday morning, 36 hours earlier than originally planned.

But a service station association in Houston said hundreds of dealers there would go ahead with a three-day closing Monday.

The Cost of Living Council said it was approving immediate retail price increases that would enable most gasoline dealers to raise their prices by 1 to 2.5 cents a gallon.

However, many dealers said the price hikes would afford them only temporary relief. Some were angry that the council did not completely lift Phase 4 controls and thus allow them to pass on to customers any subsequent wholesale gasoline price increases.

"This does absolutely nothing for us," said Garry Britton, a San Rafael, Calif., service station operator and vice president of the National Chevron Dealers Association. "I wouldn't be surprised to see a nationwide shutdown."

In Los Angeles, John Devine, president of the International Service Station Dealers Association, said of the council's decision: "It's just another bone ...

"Although it may avert a disaster to some (dealers), it has not corrected the problem. We can't do business on the profit margins we are allowed," Devine said.

Taking a more hopeful view was Bud Welch, an official of the newly formed Oklahoma Independent Petroleum Retailers Association, who said the council's announcement "sounds like an improvement."

Richard F. Messer, president of the Greater Indianapolis Gasoline Dealers Association, said: "It has been worth it all, all the struggle that we've gone through."

Messer's group spearheaded a four-day shutdown of some 400 central Indiana service stations this week.

In Houston, Billy J. Newman, president of the Greater Houston Service Station Association, forecast that about 80 per cent of the area's 2,000 gasoline dealers would take part in the three-day shutdown still scheduled to begin Monday.

"We know that the present administration are a bunch of liars and thieves," Newman said. "We will not continue to let them steal from us just to make the Cost of Living Council look good."

In Olympia, Wash., one service station owner said he planned to close Sunday, but only because his supplies were running low.

"I don't feel the motoring public is responsible for the shortages so I don't know why we should penalize them," said Mobil dealer Al Eddy. On second thought, he added: "I guess if Mr. Nixon drove up I might lock my pumps quick."

Miss Sikeston

A new Miss Sikeston officially started her year- long reign Friday night when she was selected from a field of 25 candidates as the 1973 Miss Sikeston. The winner is Teresa Marie Houchin, center, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Houchin, 1019 Davis Blfd. First runner- up is Miss Teresa Marie Scherer, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Gardner of Route Three. Second runner- up is Miss Beth Waters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Waters, 123 Gerrace Drive. In the background is Lynn Ingram, master of ceremonies for the contest.

Mrs. Sexton is Morehouse postmaster

MOREHOUSE— Donald Pasaka, postmaster of the Sikeston sectional center, announced Friday that Mrs. Viva J. Sexton of Morehouse has been appointed postmaster at Morehouse, effective today.

Billy A. Calendine, mail processing representative of the Evansville, Ind., district, along with John MacDonald, postmaster of the Poplar Bluff sectional center and Pasaka administered the oath of office at 11 a.m. Friday at Morehouse Post Office.

In announcing the appointment, Clarence B. Gels of Chicago, Ill., postmaster general of the 13-state region which includes Southeast Missouri, said Mrs. Sexton's nomination by the national management selection board and appointment by Postmaster Gen. E. T. Klassen of Washington, D. C., was in accordance with the merit procedures of the U. S. Postal Service, which assure that postal workers can now aspire to any position in the service.

Mrs. Sexton began her career with the U. S. Postal Service in September 1960 as a clerk in the Morehouse Post Office and remained at that office until August 1968.

She re- entered the postal service as a substitute clerk at Morehouse in July 1970. Since July 1972, Mrs. Sexton has been working as a clerk both in the Sikeston Post Office and at Morehouse.

Chamber to seek new office okay

The Chamber of Commerce will ask the City Council Monday for permission to build an office building at the southwest corner of the Sikeston Memorial Airport property.

The chamber will house its offices in the building if the council approves the site. Don Agnew, chamber president, said the Federal Aviation Administration and possibly other agencies would also have to be consulted.

The decision to build the offices was made at a chamber meeting this week.

The proposed building will be 24 by 50 feet with brick veneer siding and will cost between $25,000 and $26,000. It will contain a meeting room and two or three offices.

Agnew said the site was chosen because it is on city property, is easily accessible, can be seen from the highway and is centrally located with easy access to any part of Sikeston.

Herb Stephens, first vice president of the chamber board of directors, is in charge of the building program.

Bob Matthews, second vice president, was appointed chairman of a committee to select projects of priority for city improvement which can be undertaken by the chamber.

Harrington to fight return

James (Peterboy) Harrington, the accused slayer of Kenneth Lee Ellison in 1971, has refused to waive extradition before the U. S. Magistrate in Chicago, according to Scott County Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore.

Harrington's refusal indicated that he intends to fight his return to Missouri to stand trial for the murder.

Harrington's case was continued to Nov. 5 to give Moore time to obtain requisition papers from Gov. Christopher Bond. The papers will be sent to Illinois Gov. Daniel Walker. From there they will be forwarded to the extradition officer of the Chicago Police Department, Moore said.

More said he is preparing the legal papers now for the case. Moore said Harrington could be returned as early as two weeks after extradition papers are served.

Harrington allegedly killed Ellison during a dice game in Sunset Addition. He was sought for two years before being arrested Sept. 20 by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in Chicago.

New postmaster

Mrs. Viva J. Sexton, right, was administered the oath of office as postmaster at Morehouse at 11 a.m. Friday at the Morehouse Post Office. Offering his congratulations is Donald Pasaka, Sikeston sectional center postmaster, who took part in administering the oath.

Huff urges citizen involvement

By RON PORTER

More people in Sikeston should participate in city government, says City Manager Jim Huff, even it only means standing up at a City Council meeting and voicing an opinion.

Huff made the comments Thursday. He is to leave Sikeston this weekend to begin duties as city manager in Wilkinsburg, Pa.

Citizen participation is a sign of community health, Huff added.

Huff also said he was pleased with what had been accomplished during the 18 months he was city manager, although he said he could not take credit for all of the progress which occurred while he was city manager.

Huff said he feels he played an instrumental part in improving compensation for police, including introducing overtime pay and increasing uniform allotments and base salaries. He said the emphasis on training has contributed toward better police service and will continue to improve the police department in the future.

Huff said he was "very proud" of new police Chief Leon Culp, particularly in the area of his rupport with other law enforcement agencies in Southeast Missouri. He said Culp is "a man concerned about Sikeston who will devote 100 per cent of his ability to serving the city."

Huff said he strongly supports the police cadet program. He said he could not claim credit for it, but said many cadets will continue serving Sikeston as auxiliary and regular policemen as they get older.

In addition, Huff said the city has recruited a number of good men on the police force.

Huff also praised Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer. "He has, through his knowledge and enthusiasm, renewed interest in the volunteer fire department, whose numbers had been waning," Huff said. The volunteers now number 50 per cent more than when Linnemeyer came to the city.

Huff said the new training program inlisted by Linnemeyer has approved the department's ability to fight fires.

New equipment, Huff said is providing better protection for the city. The new equipment includes a new pumper, ladder truck, hose, deluge gun, air packs and other smaller items, which Huff said are "not as dramatic, but as important," in fighting fires.

Jim Huff

Huff said he is pleased with the City Council's commitment to seek voter approval for construction of a northside fire station and purchase of another new pumper. Both are essential to maintaining adequate fire protection in the city, he said.

Other improvements in the fire department include improved compensation for firemen in the form of salary increases and uniform allotments.

Street department improvements were also cited by Huff. He said he was pleased with the addition of a patch crew and additional equipment which will enable the department to concentrate on street patching.

Because the equipment has not year arrived, Huff said the work crew hasn't been hired. "The crew should be in action by next spring," he said.

He termed the slurry coat street sealing program begun this summer as "essential."

It will give the street good protection, he said, and eventually reduce or hold down street maintenance costs.

Better pay and uniform allotments for street department personnel were also improvements cited by Huff.

The adoption of the solid waste ordinance was a step forward in bringing the city into compliance with state law, Huff said. The ordinance requires garbage pickup, something Huff said will be hard to enforce.

"One of the most significant actions," Huff added, "was the closing of the city landfill despite the higher costs of hauling trash."

Huff said the city is off to a good start in complying with state law.

The review of the city comprehensive plan just beginning could be a major plus, Huff said, especially if citizens participate in building the review.

The present plan has been "somewhat neglected since its adoption," he added.

The first phase of the airport expansion project, which includes resurfacing the runways and taxiways, will be an asset to the city,

CONSERVING WATER

A sort of Malthusian law of supply vs. consumption applies to water -- that is, water use has been growing proportionately faster than has world population, while the supply of fresh water has remained virtually constant. Of the approximately 300 million cubic miles of water on earth, about 97 per cent is in the oceans. Two-thirds of the remainder lies frozen in the Artic and Antarctic. Thus only about one per cent is both fresh and readily accessible -- in streams, lakes and underground reservoirs, all dependent on rainfall.

Some of the earliest records of human civilization are concerned with managing water resources. An adequate water supply is a necessary condition for an organized, urbanized society. All citizens must have safe water for their personal consumption, and water is necessary for commerce and industry if the economy is to prosper. From the aqueducts of ancient Rome to the reservoirs of modern cities, mankind has learned much about the difficulties of meeting water needs and demands. But as global population and pollution problems multiply the task of ensuring clean and reliable water supplies gets tougher.

As evidence of this new concern, the First World Congress on Water Resources will be held in Chicago beginning Monday, Sept. 24. The gathering is sponsored by the International Water Resources Association, a group formed last year to promote interdisciplinary cooperation and communication among those concerned with water worldwide. As Dr. William S. Butcher of the U. S. Office of Science and Technology and chairman of the conference has written: "The specialists whose task it is to provide the necessary water are, in spite of local differences, dealing with essentially similar problems in most parts of the world."

About 350 specialists from some 60 countries will attend the week- long meeting, which will include technical sessions, workshops and field trips as well as the presentations of nearly 200 papers on water-resource subjects. These include water and energy, dam- building, thermal pollution, oil pollution, rural supplies, urban water, international laws, and special sessions on water resource activities in Asia, Europe, the Middle East, Oceania and the Americas. It will be the first international water resources conference since the united States sponsored the Water for Peace meeting in 1967.

Dr. William A. Stanmeyer, associate professor at Georgetown University and director of the Center for Law and Education is quoted in The Wall Street Journal as saying, "A major reason that crime has gone up 11 times faster than population, that shoplifting is destroying retail business, that bus drivers no longer carry change, that drug abuse is leeching away the lives of 10 per cent of our high school children, that airline passengers face daily risk of hijack, that a rape occurs every 15 minutes ... is that just when we need more effective law enforcement the courts have set out, generally, to render it impotent. Just when we most need to strengthen the certainty of sanction, we weaken legal interpretations, American criminal jurisprudence has lost the common sense flexibility that characterizes the British system, our legal forebear, and which, though somewhat diminished even in England, is likely to increase in their practice long before the law-abiding citizens here at last insist that we leave the mountaintop of constitutional theory and return to the marketplace of plain reason."

U. S. News & World Report has come up with a revealing story about millions of tax evaders and cheaters which is costing the government in Washington at least 6 billion dollars a year -- and is threatening to get out of control.

That official estimate, the Internal Revenue Service notes, includes only the income taxes avoided by individuals. However, tax experts outside the IRS say the agency actually is understating the problem in an effort to soften resentment among honest taxpayers. Some put the real losses as high as five times that much, around $30 billion a year.

Former IRS Commissioner J. M. Walters, in congressional hearings into the agency's budget, said the current trend could widen the annual tax-collection gap to 8 billion dollars by 1976, which he termed as "frightening."

The IRS says the real problem is a lack of manpower to audit returns for mistakes, tricky legal maneuvers and outright fraud. That complaint may seem strange in view of the size of the IRS, with its budget well over a billion dollars a year and more than 70,000 employes in all.

Most of the IRS audits are being concentrated on the big-money cases which allows more small- time cheaters to go free. During the year ended June 30, 1972, for example, more than 12 per cent of the individuals with an adjusted gross income over $50,000 has their returns audited, compared with only 1.5 per cent of those who made $10,000 to $50,000. Last year, seven times as many large cases were examined as in 1967 in an effort to keep up collections in the face of declining audits.

Despite the slippage of the last 10 years, Mr. Walters told the congressional hearing: "Our self- assessment tax system is the most effective tax system yet designed by man. Other nations of the world come here to learn how we collect such huge sums at so little cost. The credit is due to lawabiding, patriotic Americans who determine their tax liability, file returns assessing themselves and pay what they owe."

But the big fear now is that lax tax enforcement will undermine the system and lead to a scofflaw attitude toward taxes that is a way of life in many other countries.

So we're told that there is increased chiseling on taxes and even some are refusing to fill out tax forms as sort of a "protest" against politics and government and other things. And we believe that the high taxes have become a real burden to many Americans who also view the abuse of the tax money that is spent in their communities in many projects.

Consumerism is not an organized movement of millions of Americans speaking for a common cause in their own behalf. According to Dr. Max Brunk, professor of marketing at Cornell University, it is a movement of many fragments with issues frequently championed by small minorities.

Consequently, if we are to take a rational viewpoint on various issues, particularly those involving legislation, we need to know much more about consumerism.

Dr. Brunk points out that we must not make the mistake of assuming a universality of consumer values. As he explains it, we all tend to rationalize what we consider appropriate values for others and we have difficulty understanding and respecting values other than our own.

Traditionally our economy has been built around the market mechanism which has provided a voting place for the wants and needs of people. The uniqueness of this voting place is that it respects and responds to the will of minorities as well as majorities.

In the final analysis, he says, we must recognize that consumer protection does not come free. It must be paid for by the consumer, either in added costs or through deprivation. If consumers were to be fully protected in all actions, they would become nothing more than wards of the State.

It should be added to the Consumer Bill of Rights that the right to safety is appropriate only in the exercise of reasonable and prudent judgment by consumers. The right to be informed carries with it the responsibility of becoming better educated. The right to choose should include the opportunity to make the kind of choice which consumer protectionism prohibits. And the right to be heard should involve respect for the differing desires of one's fellowmen.

"That's nothing," said the second one. "I had to deliver a baby in Montana, ran into a fog, finally found the place after being off course for eight grueling hours. Boy, what a day."

The third stork grinned. "You fellows had it tough, all right. As for me, I just took the day off. Headed for the nearest Army base, found the WAC barracks, and flew around it all morning."

"Make a delivery?" the first one asked.

"Nope. It was just a terror raid."

'HUMOUR' IS NEW
FORMULA FOR PEACE

The military staffs of NATO and the Warsaw Pact already enjoy a month's holiday a year. If this were increased by one month each succeeding year, by the end of 12 years they would be on permanent leave.

At the same time, the industrial side of the military - industrial complex could be paid time- and- a-half its usual profits for NOT producing war materials.

The world would thus be freed from the threat of global war and everyone would be happy.

This is the peace plan of APHIA, a new organization dedicated to the proposition that "the greater time the military have for fun, the more fun the rest of the world can have," and conceived in the belief "that in a world where increasing numbers of faceless leaders fumble uncertainly with ever- greater governmental power, humour is a vital necessity to the injection of sanity in international affairs."

APHIA, in fact, stands for Association for the Promotion of Hunour in International Affairs. The word is spelled "homour" because, although its founder, Alfred E. Davidson, is an American, the association was launched and has its headquarters in London.

One way APHIA proposes to live up to its name is by awarding a Noble Prize (as distinguished from Nobel Pirze) each year to candidates who have contributed to humor - er, humour.

Membership in APHIA is open to anyone with two pounds (about $4,80, although who knows these days?) and a sense of humour — but cautions that since it is a tax-avoiding rather than a tax-exempt organization, dues are not tax deductible. They must come from the heart.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Postal Service Contracts Go to Chief's Cronies

WASHINGTON -- Postmaster General Ted Klassen, who is now calling for higher postage to meet the rising costs of the Postal Service, has been contributing to those costs by handing out non- competitive contracts to his cronies and building fancy facilities for himself.

One of his old friends is Martin E. Segal, whose firm, the Segal Company, won a $50,000 contract last March -- despite the fact that its bid was the third highest of five considered and was more than twice the amount of the low bidder.

Segal has also been known to arrange postal contracts for clients. But like everything else, the cost of influence peddling has gone up. In return for pulling the right strings with the Postmaster General, the Segal Company collects a 15 per cent finder's fee. This is triple what the five percenters used to receive in Harry Truman's day.

One of Segal's clients, for example, is Retirement Advisors, Inc., which wanted to sell its counseling service to the Postal Service. Postal employes already have available all the retirement counseling they need from the Civil Service Commission. But Segal fired off a personal letter to Klassen on March 5, 1970, recommending his client.

DUPLICATE INFORMATION

In a warm personal response, Klassen agreed to award a five- year, half-million- dollar contract to the company to produce retirement booklets. Not only do these duplicate information available from the Civil Service Commission, but no competitive bids were sought.

Our sources have brought us the Segal file which shows Klassen didn't sign the letter but rather turned it over to his aides to fill out the necessary paperwork. When the contract was awarded, the Segal Company took its 15 per cent cut from Retirement Advisors.

Segal insisted to my associate Jack Cloherty that he "didn't get a penny" from the deal. He acknowledged that his company collected a generous 15 per cent but explained he is now a "non- paid consultant" to the company. He did not explain how the profits are distributed.

Others besides Segal have benefitted from Klassen's loyalty to old friends. Paul Burnsford, a public relations pal of the Postmaster General's, has picked up a whopping $821,000 worth of sole- source Postal Service contracts.

Klassen has also taken care of himself. On the top floor of the new Postal Service building, he has built a palatial penthouse replete with hand-carved wooden doors and a $50,000 kitchen.

Meanwhile, Klassen is crying for an increase in the rate of first class mail, from eight to ten cents.

VETO HASSLE: Another round in the battle between Congress and the White House was fought the other day behind closed congressional doors.

House Judiciary Chairman Peter Rodino, D- N. J., tangled with Assistant Attorney General Robert Dixon over the "pocket veto," which President Nixon has used to kill legislation when Congress is out of session. The President conveniently lets the bill languish and die, without signing it, when Congress isn't around to override him.

Rodino sought to prevent abuses of the "pocket veto" by restricting its use only after Congress has adjourned "sine die." This would stop the President from using the "pocket veto" when Congress is simply vacationing.

The doors were shut on the debate at the request of the Justice Department, which pleaded that an open discussion might jeopardize a pending court case involving the "pocket veto."

BLUNT REBUTTAL

In the august hearing room, empty of spectators, Chairman Rodino looked down from the rostrum at Dixon and informed him bluntly: "A 'pocket veto' is an absolute veto. Its use prevents Congress from considering a bill and voting on it in the light of the President's disapproval."

Referring to the Constitutional Convention, Rodino reminded Dixon: "The Framers voted on an absolute veto power twice and soundly rejected it both times."

Rodino was supported by the Judiciary Committee's ranking Republican, Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R- Mich., who argued: "The Executive Branch does not really possess a 'pocket veto' power itself." Instead, Congress simply "deprives itself of its power to override a veto."

Faced with bipartisan oppostion, Dixon was respectful but held firmly to the Nixon line. "We prefer," he said, "to appear in support of congressional proposals and especially to avoid constitutional disputations, but that is not always possible."

TWO ALTERNATIVES

He conceded that the Constitution did "possess a certain incompleteness" on the veto issue while Congress is absent. Nevertheless, he insisted that "Congress lacks the power to enact" Rodino's proposal.

Congress, he argued, "does not have the power...to narrow the meaning of the 'adjournment.' Indeed, the fundamental constitutional doctrine of separation of powers would be in jeopardy" if Congress had such authority.

Dixon offered two alternatives to Rodino's plan to restrict the "pocket veto" -- "careful scheduling of presentation of bills to the President" to avoid adjournment periods, or Congress "could repass the bill, present it to the President and, if necessary, override his veto."

Rodino, anticipating these arguments, claimed that such alternatives resulted in the "erosion of legislative power of Congress" and caused "duplication of time and resources."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Nuclear Front:

Labor Working Closely With Nixon's Defense Chiefs

WASHINGTON--- Labor's own 10- star commander- in-chief George Meany publicly is willing to turn Dick Nixon in for a good box of non- Cuban cigars, but quietly the union chief of chiefs is backing the President to the nuclear hilt on the military front. Unnoticed, labor's lobbying legions have charged up the Hill, bombarding the Senate with demands that billions of dollars pour out for futuristic weaponry regardless of the recycled entente cordiale with the Soviets.

Meany and some of his intimate stalwarts don't trust the Kremlin any further than they can throw Lenin's mausoleum. They believe in a powerful far- flung--- and nuclear--- defense line. They see this as the one deterrent to the Soviets' seeping influence in Western Europe.

Here labor and Dick Nixon agree. And inconceivable as it sounds, there is no vendetta behind the scenes. There is only a common effort to beef up the Army, strengthen the Navy and put an incomparable Air Force into the skies--- not to mention those outerspace whirling stations from which megaton fusillades can be dropped with pinpoint accuracy on some enemy city street corner.

And there have been secret discussions between labor's international specialists, the White House and the Dept. of Defense, strange as such dialogues do seem amidst Meany's daily blasting of the administration.

Thus it has been made crystal clear to Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger that he is welcome to address the Oct. 18 AFL- CIO national biennial convention in Bal Harbour, Fla., even if his commander- in- chief by name of Nixon hasn't been offered a visitor's badge.

There isn't much spook to spook relationship between the CIA and the AFL- CIO international wraiths anymore since the United Auto Workers' Victor Reuther blew the whistle and the cover on this cooperation which I always believed to be quite honorable. But bolstering American defense efforts privately and publicly is another matter.

For example, the Seafarers chief Paul Hall, an AFL- CIO vice president, is head of the federation's 8 million member Maritime Trades Dept. To its national convention opening on Oct. 15, also in Bal Harbour, Fla., Hall has invited Chief of Naval Operations Elmo Zumwalt, Jr., who now is fighting for a super- submarine fleet known as the Trident class. It is super- silent. It stretches the length of two football fields.

It is nuclear, of course, and can hurl a classified number of missiles over 4,000 miles. Which means it can put every world capital and industrial complex from Sinkiang to Mongolia to Moscow right on target from beneath the waves. The Trident development program should cost $1.5 billion, say the AFL- CIO specialists.

But New Hampshire's Democratic Sen. Thomas McIntyre has fought to slash development costs by $885.4 million. This fight has run parallel to Sen. Mike Mansfield's campaign to cut American troops abroad--- to bring home at least half the 500,000 men and women around the world.

Last week there was an AFL- CIO huddle. They decided to pressure the Congress. Meany authorized a letter to all Senators. It was written and signed by Mr. Lobby himself, Andrew Biemiller, officially, the AFL-CIO director of legislation. Mailed the morning of Sept. 24, the communication made clear where the big federation stood.

One section said: "Obviously the Soviet Union is still trying to weaken the Atlantic Alliance...and control Western Europe."

Then it called for support of the defense program. And added, "To accomplish this end we urge you to vote against the McIntyre amendment on Trident and the Mansfield amendment on overseas troops."

The Mansfield amendment won nonetheless. But only by three votes. A few more votes could have tied it. And Vice President Agnew would have broken the tie with a vote which labor would have recorded as "right." It took free- world pressure to reverse the vote later in the day.

There's more than military policy significance here. The defense and foreign policy issue brought the AFL- CIO and President Nixon together in the beginning. It was the hard hat support during the massive Manhattan demonstration in May 1970 which bolstered the President when he ordered the invasion of Cambodia and gave him the political strength to hold out for the final peace.

There is no insinuation here that Meany will ease up on Watergate or that labor will end its public abuse of Mr. Nixon. But in the crunch the AFL- CIO has become Mr. Nixon's most powerful ally on defense and national unity on foreign policy.

Thus for the first time in my memory a Defense Secretary and a Naval Operations chief have been invited to the labor conventions. And Secretary of Labor Brennan will be there too--- at the Building and Construction Trades biennial conference, though he'll not go near Meany and the bigger AFL- CIO convention. Makes little difference, he'll be just down the hall.

So it will be like old times. Nixon won't be there, but his brass will--- because basically few trust the Soviets.

Ashcroft cites efficiency increases

John Ashcroft

By DONNA SATTERFIELD

"If there has been one failure of the current administration of Gov. Christopher Bond it has been in the inability to communicate the kind of qualitative changes that have actually taken place," State Auditor John Ashcroft stated Thursday during an interview at The Daily Standard office prior to crowning Junior Miss Sikeston winner Phyllis Ward at Cotton Carnival activities later in the evening.

Ashcroft was also in New Madrid Thursday where a team assigned by his office is auditing records at the New Madrid County Courthouse, primarily in the county collector's office.

Ashcroft said there has been a vast number of increases in efficiency and economy in operating the state government and that there has been a change in spirit which is extremely valuable.

To illustrate efficiency, he described how, after an audit of the motor vehicle operator license division of the Department of revenue, a saving of up to a quarter of a million dollars was made.

A contract with a company that was taking almost eight weeks to produce a laminated driver's license was canceled and renegotiated, and it is now taking only two weeks for drivers to get their licenses.

In the Department of Agriculture, inspectors are being cross- trained as a result of an audit investigation. Now one person handles several inspections, including eggs, milk, poultry and meat, instead of several men doing each inspection separately.

In describing changes in the auditor's office since he took over the office when Bond became governor in January, Ashcroft said a special division has been set up to train and enrich the staff and to provide systems support to people in state government who needed help in developing good accounting systems.

He stated that he hopes to strengthen the program to train auditors to perform a governmental audit, which differs from a private audit.

Although reports haven't changed much, they are being expanded.

A broader audit is being made in third and fourth class counties.

The pace of the office is being accelerated. The last audit taken in Butler County took 21 months to conduct. Ashcroft said it looks as though an audit there in the near future will take only 13 weeks to complete. The office is using statistical sampling techniques and is implementing the use of electronic and automatic data processing.

"There's always something new and expanding in the auditor's office because government is changing. . .and if government changes, we've got to be ready to roll with the punches, Ashcroft said.

As to whether the state should raise the maximum interest rate, Ashcroft stated, "It's a mixed situation. I'm sure there will be legislation in the next general assembly; there was in the last one, to change the maximum legal rate of interest from eight per cent to another figure.

"I think those people who have to make that decision will have to study the issue long and hard in an effort to weigh the situation to find whether the benefit to the banking community and the development to the state will exceed the cost of the additional interest."

Of his political aspirations, Ashcroft said," We want to conduct ourselves in such a way during the next 13 or 14 months so that the people will want us back in the auditor's office."

The youngest state auditor in Missouri history, Ashcroft was appointed to the position on Jan. 8 to serve the remaining two years of a four- year term vacated when Bond became governor.

Stamps by mail being offered in area cities

Sikeston Postmaster Donald Pasaka announced today that a new "stamps by mail" service is being offered in this area.

Pasaka said the new service will permit customers to purchase stamps and stamped envelopes through the mail using a personal check or money order.

"This service will be of great benefit to all our customers and especially shut- ins, the elderly and working wives. It will enable them to satisfy their postal needs simply, rapidly and inexpensively from their own homes," the postmaster noted.

Leaflets spelling out the details of the service are being distributed to area households and small businesses.

"This new service has been tested in selected cities nationwide with very positive results," Pasaka said. "One of our customers in a test city wrote 'I am very happy about this service, as many of us older people can't get around the way we would like. We really appreciate this new service."

A 40- cent fee will be charged to defray the cost of two- way postage, internal processing of checks and other costs associated with this new service.

A unique small postage scale accurate to United States Bureau of Standards requirements is offered for sale at the Sikeston Post Office for $1.98. The price includes a case and postage rate chart.

Pasaka said the scale would enable customers to always know the exact postage. He called the scale "convenient and versatile" and said it is a "great gift for the traveler, the student, or the serviceman."

Clothes dryer damaged

Firemen were called to two minor house fires Friday.

At 10:28 a.m. they were called to the Jesse Yarbrough home, 204 Adams St. when lint behind the clothes dryer caught fire. Damage was estimated to be $50, to the dryer and duct work, firemen said.

At 2:23 p.m., firemen were called to the Annie Wood home, 325 Luther, when food in an oven caught fire. There was no damage, firemen said.

Auto inspectors can increase 1974 fees

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A new law that allows auto vehicle inspectors to increase their fee from $2.50 to $3.50 does not take effect until next Jan. 1.

The law went on the books Friday but lawmakers decided it should not take effect until next year.

Another new law, requiring owners of mobile homes to tie them down, went into effect Friday but owners will have at least a 90-day grace period.

Sixty days have been allowed the Division of Mental Health to develop standards for tiedown systems. Mobile homes bought 60 days or more after Sept. 28 must be tied down within 30 days after occupancy.

Mobile homes bought prior to the 60-day limit, after Sept. 28, must be tied down by next Sept. 28, under a grandfather clause.

On another new law, the Missouri Division of Insurance said it has sent out notices to auto insurance firms, advising them it is now illegal to cancel or refuse to renew policies except in the case of non-payment of premiums or revocation or suspension of the motorist's driver's license.

Under the law, which went into effect Friday, insurance companies can no longer cancel an insured motorist, with at least two years driving experience, solely because of age, residence, race, sex, color, creed, national origin, ancestry or occupatimn, including military service.

Other laws that went into effect yesterday include:

Probably being watched the closest of the new laws is the open meetings bill, which require meetings, votes and records to be opened to the public whenever public business is being conducted. If a citizen obtains a court injunction whenever he sees a violation, the public body would be forced to open its meeting.

Closed meetings still will be allowed for jury deliberations, grand jury proceedings, court cases concerning adoption and illegitimacy, probation and parole proceedings, legal actions concerning sale of real estate by a governmental body, mental health proceedings, welfare proceedings and meetings dealing with hiring or firing of public employes.

A section of the bill says that if any person is arrested and not charged within 30 days, all records of the arrest would be closed except to the person arrested. The arrest would be public information before the 30 days have elapsed.

Legislators were glad to see today arrive. They now will get $25 per day for expenses instead of $10 under the old law, and will get the same mileage expense as other state employes.

The mileage now is 10 cents a mile but state Accounting Office officials are considering raising it.

The House and Senate also will be able to hire as many employes as they desire. A new law removes the statutory limit of 75 employes for the 34 senators and 125 for the 163 House members.

All minority party House members now will have a secretary each. The new law also allows pay raises for legislative employes in line with the state merit system pay scale. The law also lets legislators retain clerical help througmut the year.

Another law going on the books today will allow the state insurance superintendent to regulate the Blue Cross-Blue Shield health plans. Missouri had been the only state in the nation without regulation of nonprofit health plans.

Also, insurance companies now will find it difficult to cancel auto insurance for anything other than nonpayment of premium, under a new law.

Other bills taking effect today will:

—Increase aid to dependent children payments by $5 per person.

—Require new public buildings to have handrails and exits for handicaped persons.

—Require state agencies to use recycled paper when possible.

—Exempt trucks weighing under 6,000 pounds from stopping at weight stations.

—Increase the highway patrol force by 50, to 800 patrolmen.

—Require the name of a drug and dosage on all containers of prescribed medicine.

—Allow subsidies to parents who adopt hard-to-place children.

Bernie citizens seek doctor

BERNIE -- Charles Rushing and Tom Burris of Bernie have visited John Gaston Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., in an effort to obtain a doctor to locate in Bernie.

Dr. James B. Watson, chief medical resident, advised the men to send a fact sheet relating to practice opportunities in Bernie. Watson said he would post the fact sheet on the bulletin board in the intern and resident lounge.

He also suggested that a notice be sent in October stating that someone from Bernie would be at the hospital at the end of October when new residency assignments are to be made. Not all interns will get an assignment to their liking and some of them might be available for practice, Dr. Watson added.

Rushing and Burris also made inquiry at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, but turned up no prospects.

Agnew asks Hearnes' help

CHARLESTON, Mo. (AP) — Vice President Spiro Agnew has recruited former Missouri Democratic Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to serve as a trustee of a fund set up to pay legal fees for the vice president.

Hearnes said Friday that he has agreed to serve with the Agnew Defense Fund, where he will work with two Republicans in deciding the propriety of accepting donations to the fund and disbursements from it. Other members of the board are Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and insurance tycoon W. Clement Stone of Chicago.

The former governor said he assumed his name to the vice president "because of my having been chairman of the National Governors Conference." Hearnes said he realized that many Missourians and "particularly members of the Democratic party will have some misgivings as to my consenting to serve in this capacity."

Hearnes said, however, that would not turn his back on Agnew in his time of trouble "even though he is not a member of my party and I have never voted for him."

Agnew is being investigated in connection with allegations of political corruption in his home state of Maryland.

Pilot escapes injury

CHARLESTON — Kenny McDowell of McDowell Flying Service escaped injury at 10:30 a.m. Friday when the plane he was piloting crashed in a soybean field near Interstate 57.

McDowell said today he had been seeding and was approaching his airstrip, located approximately two miles southwest of Charleston, to reload when the accident occurred.

The engine failed, apparently due to water in the fuel tanks and the plane was too low to make it to the runway 100 feet away. The landing gear became tangled in soybean plants, and the plane stood on its nose, then flipped over.

Only minor damage was reported to the plane, a Grumman Ag-Cat.

The accident was seen by a truck driver who notified authorities. Deputy Sheriff Mike Baughman, Police Chief Bob Ritchey and Assistant Chief Spensor Presson responded to the call.

The "17-Year Locust" is not a locust but a cicada.

Independence wins patrol contract

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — David Ross Construction Co. of Independence, Mo., was apparent low bidder Friday to construct a highway patrol headquarters in Poplar Bluff. The bid was $524,611.

The second lowest bid was from Sides Construction Co. of Cape Girardeau at $539,400. Schoonover Brothers Construction Co. of Lawson, Mo., bid $601,200.

A bid of $526,700 from Smith and Livingston Co. of Poplar Bluff was not accepted because it did not meet specifications, said John Cooper, director of design and construction.

Cooper said the bid opening was delayed Thursday because Smith and Livingston representatives could not fly to Jefferson City, due to bad weather. The firm's bid was sent by telegram and the attorney general's office told Cooper it should be considered as submitted in time.

There was a controversy over where the Troop E headquarters should be built. Former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes tried to have it relocated to Sikeston, Mo., but when Gov. Christopher S. Bond took office he appointed a new highway patrol superintendent and some new members to the Highway Commission. The decision was reversed to have the headquarters stay in Poplar Bluff.

When bids were originally opened last Dec. 28, the Sides Construction Co. was low bidder.

State park attendance down

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Attendance this summer in the 43 Missouri state parks was down 12 per cent from last year, state Parks Director James L. Wilson said Thursday.

However, a surge in July and August apparently kept the decline from being higher. Attendance from Jan. 1 to May 31 of this year was off 23 per cent from a year ago.

The decline was attributed to a wet spring and uncertainty about gasoline supplies.

Attendance through Aug. 31 totaled 8,844,053 persons compared with 10,070,517 last year.

The August total was 1,844,579, about the same as in 1972.

Wilson said he expected the September totals to show an increase over last year.

4 injured in area accidents

Two traffic accidents early today in the Bootheel area resulted in four injuries, according to the highway patrol.

Robert Landers, 27, of Canalou was injured at 2 a.m. three miles west of Sikeston on Highway 114 when his pickup truck went out of control, ran off the road and overturned.

He received cuts on the left ear and scratches and was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

A one- car accident at 12:30 a.m. on a gravel road four miles south of Malden resulted in injuries to three Clarkton residents.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Francis Ray, 32, of Clarkton ran off the road into a drainage ditch.

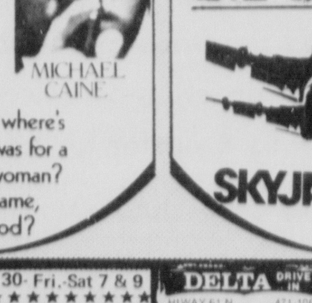

Injured were Charlotte Ray, 12, who received a neck injury; Kathrine Rodriguez, 13, broken right foot; and Anthony Rodriguez, 14, bruises and scratches. All were treated at Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett and released.

Cadets receive honor certificates

JEFFERSON CITY — Cadet Capt. Atlas J. Jones of Howardville and Cadet 1st Lt. Sherman A. Jennings of Lilbourn were among Army Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets who received distinguished military student certificates Thursday at the annual ROTC assumption of command ceremony.

Jones, a senior psychology major, recorded a 3.8 grade point average on a 4.0 scale last semester and Jennings, a senior majoring in industrial relations, had a 3.0 grade point average.

The certificates were presented to advanced ROTC students who have exhibited outstanding leadership qualities and aptitude for military service while attaining an overall academic standing within the top half of their class.

The electric chair was devised by Dr. Alphonse Rockwell who also pioneered in therapeutic uses of electricity. He was one of three commissioners appointed to advise on the initial use of electrocution as a means of execution in New York, The World Almanac recalls. William Kemmler was the first man executed by electrocution, Aug. 6, 1890, at Auburn Prison, Auburn, N.Y.

Love arrested, then released

CHARLESTON — Clarence L. Love, 57, of Charleston was arrested at 1:05 a.m. today in front of the BTO Club on suspicion of carrying a concealed weapon possession of marijuana.

Later this morning Police Chief Bob Ritchey said Love had been released pending filing of charges.

Myrtle Dillie Wallace, 41, of Florida, arrested at 12:08 a.m. today on a charge of driving while intoxicated, was fined $107 this morning in City Court.

he pointed out.

"We sometimes feel it's an asset only because we're paying 15 to 16 per cent of the cost with local funds," Huff said. But he said the airport improvements are a benefit in themselves.

The reason for the resurfacing will permit business jets to land without the danger of loose stones getting sucked into their engines. The second phase of the airport project will include lengthening the runway.

Finances are a problem for every city, but Huff said this year's budget is a good budget.

"It is somewhat ambitious in some areas," he said, "but it closely matches the city's needs."

Huff said the city should anticipate using bond issues to pay for the new fire station and the second phase of the airport project.

However, Huff said the tax rate reduction was premature, "if only because of the difficulty involved in raising it again if it becomes necessary."

Sikeston does face its problems, Huff said.

"We tend to look at Sikeston through rose-colored glasses and overlook many of the city's problems," he remarked. Problems such as gravel and cinder streets, lack of a comprehensive recreation program, inadequate alleys and poor storm drains will have to be solved in the future, he said.

Huff said a large bond issue was not needed to handle the storm drain problem, but rather "an annual allocation of funds to keep chipping away at the problem."

Huff said the Board of Municipal Utilities should contribute more to the city's income. Other cities have franchise fee systems in which the utility pays the city, supplementing the city's income.

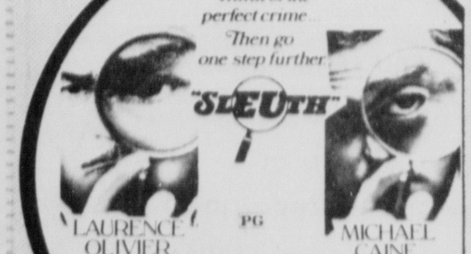

Huff said the board has agreed to share costs in some areas, such as the proposed department of economic development and the recreational complex. Huff stressed that these are steps which need to be developed further.

Charleston romps

CHARLESTON — The spiritually inspired Charleston high school Blue Jay football team rolled up their third straight victory of the 1973 gridiron season here Friday night, blanking the Sikeston Bulldogs 14-0 for a 1-0 mark in the Northern Division of the Southeast Missouri Football Conference. It was the CHS gridders third straight shutout of the young season.

Coach Joe Black's unbeaten Blue Jays displayed a quick, hard hitting defense and a spirited offense on the way to marking up the school's third win in 26 years over SHS. The last Charleston win was in 1970 when the Blue Jays recorded a 7-0 triumph.

Prayer and chants of "Jesus loves me" continually rang out from the CHS team, who have incorporated the Fellowship of Christian Athletes into their program this season.

Charleston completely dominated the action, working the ball for 52 plays to the Dogs 33.

Both teams battled through a scoreless first half. Sikeston had a pair of chances to take an early lead, but failed to penetrate the hard nosed CHS defense.

The Bluejays came out the second half after a brief skull session with coach Black and displayed a reeved up offense, sparked by J. J. Black, and broke the scoreless deadlock with the 5- yard charge of Black as the clock ticked down to 3:52 left in the third frame.

Despite the ball hawking of defensive back, Greg Colwick, Sikeston was still unable to cross the CHS goal line as the Blue Jaycs un-scored upon unit held their ground and stopped the Dogs in their tracks.

Black raced for 131 yards on the ground to lead the Blue Jays 178 yard rushing total, carrying the ball 28 times for a 4.7 average. The determination of the CHS back early in the third period added spark to the Blue Jay offense which picked up most of their offense during the second 24 minute half and ended the encounter with a 177-72 yard advantage.

Charleston's final TD came with a minute left in the encounter when Kent Sutherland broke away for a 22 yard scramble. Black followed with a run for a two point conversion and the Blue Jays most impressive win over an SHS unit in over 26 years.

Sikeston did accomplish one thing on the night. The Bulldogs cut down on their penality totals, garnering only 30 yards after 95- and 98 respectively during the opening two matches. Charleston was issued 65 yards in penalities.

The Bulldog offensive line was unable to move the talented CHS defensive line all night, which resulted in only 54 yards rushing by the SHS backs. Tom DeRoush picked up the bulk of SHS's rushing yards with 49 on 13 carries for a 3.8 average.

Coach Terry Smith's gridders will take next week off and will host the Kennett Indians Oct. 12. Charleston hosts Perryville next week.

Mets magic number... Three...

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Traditionally, baseball managers like to play 'em one at a time. But the New York Mets did much better Friday, playing 'em none at a time.

Rain in Chicago postponed a contest between the first-place Mets and the Cubs. That bit of moisture helped them pick up another half-game on Pittsburgh when the Pirates, defying the elements, lost to Montreal 3-2.

As the race steams into its final weekend, the Mets have a magic number of three to clinch the National League East race. Yet five teams retain a mathematical chance to either win or tie for the division title.

New York has a 1½-game edge on the Pirates. St. Louis is two games behind after defeating Philadelphia 3-0. Montreal is three games out and Chicago four behind. The Mets, Pittsburgh and St. Louis all can win the title and Montreal and Chicago still can tie for the crown with any or all of the other three.

In Friday night's other National League games, San Francisco beat Cincinnati 3-2 in 14 innings and Los Angeles defeated San Diego 5-2. Atlanta and Houston had the day off.

Friday's rainout forced the Mets into consecutive doubleheaders today and Sunday against the Cubs. It's not the ideal situation for any team and certainly not for a team trying to nail down half a pennant.

But the Pirates lessened the pressure by losing to the Expos when Al Oliver's error set up three unearned runs in the seventh inning for Montreal.

The Pirates were leading 2-0 on Dock Ellis' one-hitter until the seventh when Larry Lintz opened with a single and raced to third on Ken Singleton's oneout single. Jim Lyttle grounded to first but Oliver threw the ball away, allowing Lintz to score. Moments later, John Boccabella looped a double to center as Gene Clines barely missed a shoestring catch. Two more runs scored and that was enough to finish Pittsburgh...for the night if not for the season.

Cardinals 3, Phillies 0

Mike Thompson and Diego Segui combined for a two-hitter and St. Louis stayed alive in the NL East by defeating Philadelphia 3-0.

Giants 5, Reds 3

Dave Rader's third run-producing hit of the game drove in Mike Phillips with the winning run in the 14th inning as San Francisco defeated Cincinnati 5-3.

Joe Morgan and Cesar Geronimo homered for the Reds.

Tom Paciorek drove in three runs and Von Joshua ripped three hits including a homer,

Mules buck Pirates

POPLAR BLUFF-- Coach Tom Telle's Mules continued their winning ways with an 18- 7 Northern Division league win over Perryville Friday night. The game saw all the scoring in the first three quarters with a defensive battle in the final frame.

Poplar Bluff scored in the first quarter on a seven yard run by Steve Cash, to give the Mules a 6- 0 lead after the extra point attempt failed. In the second quarter, Tutti Hayes scored on a one yard run. The extra point failed and Poplar Bluff lead 12- 0.

Perryville got on the score board later in the second quarter. Richard Kramer scored on a one yard run and Niswonger booted the extra point. The half ended that way with the Mules leading 12- 7.

The final score of the game came in the third quarter when Cash scored again on a three yard run.

The Mules are now 3- 0 for the season and 2- 0 in Conference. Perryville has an over- all record of 2- 1, with a 1- 1 record in Conference.

Bearcats rally

DEXTER– Coach Clyde Vaughn's Bearcats won their second straight Southern Division league game last night by defeating the Caruthersville tigers, 13- 12. The Tigers controlled the ball for the first three quarters, taking a 12- 0 lead.

Caruthersville scored in the first quarter on an eight yard run by John Townsend. The extra point was no good. Townsend scored the second touchdown in the second quarter with a nine yard run and again the P.A.T. was unsuccessful.

Dexter got on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter with a quarterback sneak by Don Backfish, but missed the extra point. Later in the quarter, Backfish completed a pass to Greg Miller for a 75 yard touchdown to tie the score. Backfish kicked the extra point which gave the Bearcats the win.

Caruthersville is now 0- 3 in over- all play and 0- 2 in Conference play. Dexter has a 2- 1 record for the season and 2- 0 for Conference play.

Dons collar Bulldogs

DONIPHAN— Coach Waller's Dons started their Bootheel league march with a 25- 6 victory over Gideon Friday night. DHS totally dominated the game, running up 226 total yards to Gideon's 26.

A pass from Tom Brumitt to Randy Farrin in the first quarter got the Dons started. In the second period, Steve Donnell and Brumitt both scored on runs. The final Doniphan score came on a run by the Bootheel Conference's leading scorer Tim Odom.

The Gideon score was the work of Maddox as he romped for the first points of the Gideon season.

The letters in the organization CARE stand for Cooperative for American Relief to Everywhere.

CCHS defense shines

SPRINGFIELD– The Cape Girardeau Central Tigers used defense to hold back Parkview High school here Friday night, 20- 6.

Parkview had a total offensive attack of 81 yards with Bob Glover getting all of that total on an 81 yard gallop for their only score in the third period.

After a scoreless first period David Gross hauled in a 28 yard scoring pass from quarterback Bill Seabaugh. Jeff Hutton added the first of two extra points and the Tigers led 7- 0. Just before the first half of play ended Steve C. Taylor broke loose for eight yards and the second touchdown for Cape Central and the Tigers took a 14- 0 lead into the dressing room.

In the third period Glover out ran the Cape Central defense for 81 yards to put the host on the scoreboard. Steve C. Taylor plunged across the goal from the one yard line after a sustained drive by the Tigers in the third quarter to run their record to 3- 0 on the season.

I-SC takes lead

By DIANNE EZZELL

SOUTH PEMISCOT — The Illmo-Scott City Rams defeated South Pemiscot 37-0. Friday night in Bootheel league play. The game featured a strong Ram offense and an outstanding defensive unit that still has not allowed a point to be scored. The Rams take a 1-0 lead in their persuit for a 5th straight league title.

The Rams got rolling in the first quarter with a seven yard run by Randy Bohn. Richard Springs kick the first of three extra point. The scoring continued in the second with Rich Baker scoring on a 24 yard run with Springs running for the two point conversion. Later in the quarter Mike Schaefer and Randy Bohn caught the Bulldog quarterback in the end zone for a safety. Near the end of the half, Rich Baker passed to Bohn from the seven yard line for the third touchdown of the game. Springs kicked the extra point.

In the second half, Steve Hanschen broke loose for a 50 yard run, but the extra point was no good. The final score of the third period and the game was scored by Don Cruz on a three yard run with Springs booting the final point.

The statistics for I-SC are very impressive. They ran and passed for nine first downs to South Pemiscot's one. The amassed 229 net rushing yards. They completed four of 14 passes for 62 yards and recovered three fumbles while losing none.

East Prairie's second score came when Sherman Bankhead plunged for two yards, the extra point attempt by Bard was no good. The first score for the Hayti Indians came late in the first quarter with a one yard run by Eddie Martin. The extra point following was missed.

In the second quarter the Husk to Davis combination connected again for 21 yards and the third East Prairie touchdown. Perry Jones ran for the two point conversion. Vows soleminized Sept. 1

Mrs. Ronald Gene Perry

The wedding of Miss Deobrah Lynn Hinze of Sikeston and Ronald Gene Perry of Hannibal was solemnized Sept. 1 at 4 p.m. in First Church of the Nazarene in Sikeston by the Rev. Edwin Abla of Dexter, assisted by the Rev. Coy Presson, pastor.

Candle trees were on each side of an arch of greenery and candles. Baskets of yellow gladioli and mums with multicolored daisies completed the altar setting. Yellow bows marked the family pews.

As guests arrived, they were greeted at the guestbook by Miss Debbie Launius of Sikeston and ushered in by Lan Coots and Frank Bowman of Dexter.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Mrs. Iris McElrath of East Prairie, organist. Steve Hinze, brother of the bride, sang, "The Lord's Prayer", "Through the Years" and "Walk Hand in Hand", and served as a candlelighters with Rita Davis of Dexter.

Following the exchange of vows, the young couple together lit a single yellow taper signifying marriage in Christ and that the two now became one.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hinze of Sikeston, and the grooms parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Perry of Crowley, La.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie and Brussels lace with an empire waist, cowl neckline, pearl buttons and lace appliques on the skirt. The floor-length veil of illusion had a headpiece of white daisies. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds and multicolored daisies mixed with baby's breath.

The bride chose Mrs. Carol Shepherd of San Antonio, Tex., her sister, as matron of honor and Miss Lori Hinze of Sikeston, another sister, as junior bridesmaid. Miss Karen Stallings of Jonesboro, Ark., Mrs. Sharon Myatt of Hazel, Ky., cousin of the bride, and Miss Diane Holden of Dexter were bridesmaids.

Each wore a long empire-waisted gown of crepe in green, yellow, blue, pink and lavender. The gowns had low rounded necklines and short puffed sleeves. Each girl also wore a white wide- brimmed hat with sprays of tinted daisies and carried a basket spilling with daisies and ribbons.

Dwight Perry of Crowley, La., brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Ned Perry of Crowley, another brother; Roger Shepherd of San Antonio; and Harvey Hayden of Davenport, Iowa. Michael Coots of Dexter served as ringbearer.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church annex. The wedding cake was three- tiered and decorated with yellow roses and greenery. It sat above a fountain and was topped with a cupid. The table was overlaid with a white tablecloth accented with yellow ribbon and bows.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edith Launius, table hostess, and Mrs. Lynda Bowman of Dexter, Mrs. Mona Presson and Mrs. Lois Bond. Miss Diane Lane presided at the gift table.

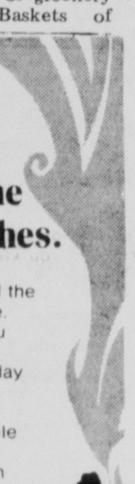

The mother of the bride wore a floor- length pastel green dress of polyester with long sheer sleeves. The groom's mother wore a floor-length pastel blue dress of double knit. Both wore corsages of yellow roses and multicolored daisies.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Perry went to Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La., on their honeymoon.

They will make their home in Hannibal where the groom is associate minister of the First Church of the Nazarene.

Inflation hasn't changed the price of ashes.

But it has changed the price of your home. For example, if you bought a $20,000 home in 1968—today it's worth about $27,000. Don't be left with a costly pile of ashes. See me about a State Farm Homeowners Policy that will cover your home for all it's worth and keep it that way with automatic Inflation Coverage.

Ann Landers

Adhesive tape can stop snoring

Dear Ann Landers: Your answer to a recent letter astounded me. The writer complained that the young man she had been going out with was a heavy drinker but somehow he didn't seem to show it. Nevertheless, she was afraid to go out with the guy again because he insisted on driving and they had had several close calls. Your answer was, "If he drinks like a fish, then swim with him but don't drive with him."

I hope your readers don't take that advice seriously. Drinking and swimming don't mix any better than drinking and driving. As an editor of the nation's leading trade newspaper on the swimming pool industry, I have accumulated much data.

An alarming number of swimming accidents have occurred when the injured or drowned person has been drinking. The only way water and alcohol should be mixed is in a glass, and some authorities question that.

The drinker who swims is usually the one who either jumps head- first into shallow water and is injured, or who tries to show off, misuse pool equipment and gets hurt.

Alcohol can turn any swimming party into a tragedy. In short, drinkers shouldn't swim. -- D.K., Fort Lauderdale

Dear D.K.: Right you are. How could I have missed something so obvious? Thank you for calling this to my attention.

Dear Ann Landers: For the benefit of the lady with the snoring husband: A clear plastic tape is now available which may help.

After recent surgery I arrived home from the hospital with a good- sized roll which I decided to use to tape my mouth shut at night so I would not snore. Also, being a stingy old lady, I yank the tape off in the morning, put it on my nightstand, and use it again the next night.

I just wish I'd known about this tape years ago. In the past 30 years my husband would have had a lot more sleep.

Thanks for all your help. -- A Quieter Grandma

Dear Grandma: Thirty years ago they didn't have plastic tape, but I'm sure adhesive would have done just as well.

I am eager to know if this works for others. Will you readers out there who have snoring spouses ask if they will sacrifice a night's sleep in the name of "scientific research"?

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "I Feel Better Already" made me write to you.

A few years ago I, too, was hacking, caughing and sneezing. I had watery eyes, chapped lips and a red nose. Food tasted awful. I was a "chronic asthmatic," so short of breath at times I had to sleep sitting up. When our young son began to develop the same symptoms I became frantic.

We moved to another city and I had to start with a new doctor. The first thing he said to me was, "You'll never get any better until you stop smoking." The doctor was shocked when I told him I didn't smoke -- and never had. He then asked if my husband smoked. When I replied, "Only three packs a day," he informed me that I was allergic to smoke and second- hand smoke was making me sick.

I could write a book on what happened after I got that news, but this is enough for one letter to Ann Landers. Please print it for others who might have a similar problem and not know it. -- Breathing Easy In Bermuda

Dear B.: I have printed other letters saying the same thing, but one more won't hurt. Welcome to the world of the living.

Linda Dowling, Dan Hall exchange vows Sept. 1

Mr. and Mrs. Dan C. Hall

KEWANEE — Linda Kimes Dowling and Dan C. Hall were united in marriage in a double- ring candlelight ceremony Sept. 1 at 7 p.m. in the Kewanee United Methodist Church by the Rev. Earl Statler.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lottie Kimes of Portageville and the late A. M. Kimes, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Ethyl Hall of LaForge and the late Matt Hall.

The aisle was lined with single candleabra holding white tapers, greenery and pink bows. A 15- branch candelabra with greenery and pink bows formed the arch at the altar. The altar candle was placed in front of the candleabra.

Arrangements of cut flowers in the bride's color theme were placed on each side of the vestibule.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Miss Jan Helms of Matthews, organist, and Miss Laura Hunter of New Madrid, who played the guitar and sang "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" and "The Wedding Song".

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, J. R. Blankenship, the bride wore a pastel pink, floor- length gown with an overlay of sheer organza. The gown featured a natural waistline, long sleeves which tapered into a button cuff and lace encircled neckline and cuffs. Lace also extended down the dress front and around the hemline of the full skirt. The bride wore a headpiece of pale pink roses outlined with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and pink carnations with pink and deep rose streamers. Her only jewelry was a diamond pendant, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Judy Blankenship was her sister's only attendent and served as matron of honor. She wore a floor- length dress of deep rose antique satin. The gown featured a high neckline with leg of mutton sleeves. The empire waistline was accented with a self bow with floor- length streamers. Her headpiece was of deep rose and light pink rosebuds. Mrs. Blankenship carried a single, long- stemmed, pink carnation with deep rose and pink streamers.

The groom chose David Eddy of LaForge as best man. Daniel Kimes of Marston and Randy Kimes of Portageville were ushers and also lit candles preceding the ceremony.

A reception followed the service in the dining room of the church. The table was overlaid with a white lace tablecloth accented with long- stemmed red roses at each end of the table.

The bride's three- tiered cake was decorated with white miniature roses and love birds. Larger love birds topped the cake.

A crystal punch set and silver coffee service were on each end of the table. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Marilyn Billington of Malden, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Phyllis Copeland of Matthews.

Miss Tammy Kimes of Portageville, sister of the bride, presided at the guestbook, and Renee Dowling, daughter of the bride, gave each guest a pastel, rose, rice bag.

Mrs. Kimes wore for her daughter's wedding a floor-length gown of hunter green, polyester, double knit accented with lace at the neck and sleeves. Mrs. Hall, mother of the groom, wore a pale blue double knit dress with high neckline and cap sleeves. Both wore red roses and pink ribbon corsages.

A rehearsal dinner was given Aug. 30 by Mrs. Judy Blankenship, and a miscellaneous shower was given earlier by Mrs. Roseann Martin of Kewanee.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hall are making their home in Kewanee.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

NOT TOO MUCH

Liquor can tranquilize

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — This is not an easy letter to write, but I hope to read your answer in our paper. It regards my husband who is 60 years old. I feel guilty as I recommended my doctor to him, as his own doctor had left this area.

The doctor said his health was good, but because of his job and being a tense person, he recommended my husband stay with his bourbon at the end of the day as a tranquilizer instead of taking pills. This made me wonder, as my doctor always prescribes pills for women.

Instead of one strong drink daily, my husband takes two with only ice on an empty stomach, since he doesn't eat much lunch. Now he finds that whenever he does anything requiring any exercise he tires easily and is breathless. It's so ironic, because if the doctor had told him to cut out all alcohol he probably would have done so. I'm not a teetotaler, but I'm concerned about the effects of all this alcohol on his health.

Dear Reader— Alcohol is not a bad tranquilizer, but the danger in prescribing it to a person is just exactly what you have cited. A person can start using it too often and in too large a quantity. This in turn can lead to other problems which may be more serious than the simple nervousness which might have stimulated prescribing a tranquilizer to begin with.

Basically the problem of using alcohol and tranquilizers either one for nervousness is that it doesn't solve the underlying problem. One needs to get at the reasons for the nervousness and see if these can be minimized.

From your letter I judge that your husband is the kind of person who follows good directions readily. That is a plus in his favor.

Part of the problem here is that if you drink alcohol on an empty stomach it's very rapidly absorbed into the bloodstream, and you can have a high blood level rather quickly, causing inebriation, or at least the first stages of intoxication. As a general rule of thumb, one jigger of whiskey drunk slowly over a period of one hour is sufficient, preferably diluted so that it won't be absorbed too rapidly in the bloodstream, if you don't want to get too much of an effect from it.

There is about one-half ounce of alcohol in a jigger of most whiskey. It will take more than one hour for the body to metabolize that much alcohol. If one has several drinks they should be spread apart even further if he wants to eliminate problems from the alcohol.

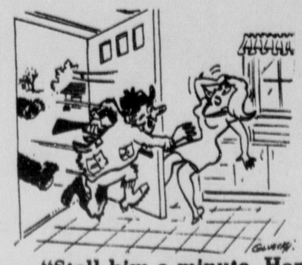

I really don't think anyone should develop a regular alcohol habit, and I'm even opposed to the regular one-drink-a-day routine, if it becomes a "routine."

Rather than a tranquilizer or alcohol, your husband should start an exercise program. From your description of his present condition, this will have to be done gradually. To start with, I'd recommend he begin an evening walk. He can gradually increase these until they help build up his condition.

It's amazing how relaxing exercise can be for a person after a day that's filled with nervous tension. When one has developed his physical fitness level and is able to engage in some enjoyable physical activity, such as tennis, golf, swimming, or something of that nature, then this is one of the best and most healthy tranquilizers that a person can get.

What's the law?

The case of the unpatriotic religion

By: Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Chester awakened his wife with kisses one night only he was giving them to the maid. The result? His wife obtained a separation as well as custody of their two children. And while having his freedom was fine, what Chester really wanted were his kids. Consequently, he kept a weathered eye on his erstwhile spouse hoping that she would make a wrong move. And, ultimately, as far as Chester was concerned, she finally did. She changed her religion.

Racing off to court, Chester demanded custody of his children.

"She can't properly raise our kids with that new religion," he charged. "It's a real beaut! It prohibits saluting the Stars and Stripes, pledging allegiance to our country, serving in the armed forces or even working for the government. If she's allowed to keep them, they'll grow up about as patriotic as Benedict Arnold."

"It's my religion," retorted the ex- wife, "and they're my children. Under the Constitution, I can't be deprived of either because of the other."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit the children to remain with their mother?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that religious beliefs and religious teachings and practices are not grounds for depriving a parent of custody of a child so long as such beliefs and teachings are neither immoral nor illegal. And, concluded the judge, such was not the situation in this case.

Prospective maharajahs

The Sikeston Junior Woman's Club is busy raising funds for the pediatrics ward at Missouri Delta Community Hospital. Fund raising has started with a maharajah contest and will continue with the Red Stocking Follies on Nov. 16 and 17. Two harem girls from the sponsoring organization managed to entice five of the eight contestants in the maharajah contest to come out for a group picture. The harem girls are Pam Tidwell, left, and Vesta Culp. Prospective maharajahs, from left, are Mel Cokeneur, Jimmy Cox, Larry Linnemeyer, Doug Singleton and Harley Barnes. The remaining three contestants are Lenzie Beck, Chuck Lewis and Charles Mitchell. Votes for your favorite maharajah can be made by the penny at stations in various business firms in the city.

First community owned supermarket in Mo. opens

HOWARDVILLE-- "It's been a long struggle, but we've finally arrived at this great day," Mayor Willie B. Hamilton of Howardville told residents and friends of this 500- resident rural community last Saturday.

The occasion was the grand opening ceremony for Missouri's first community-owned supermarket, the HACE Coop Supermarket, a cooperative business project of the Howardville Area Cooperative Enterprises, a self- help economic development organization. About 150 residents, church and agency representatives and friends attended the ceremony.

In his welcoming remarks, Mayor Hamilton, who also serves as president of the HACE board of directors, thanked all who helped the project for their continuing faith in it.

"We've had many obstacles in our way, but we're sure not going to let you down now," he said. "We're going to make the store go!"

Supporters applauded as Hamilton cut through the ribbon and turned the key over to Henrietta Grant, manager, who explained that the store is owned by all who purchased shares in HACE and not by any one person.

"Membership in HACE is open to anyone, but you do not have to be a member to shop at the store," she said. "Any profits at the end of the year will be distributed to the members and shoppers as dividends and patronage refunds. This is truly our store," she emphasized.

HACE's goal is to increase the standard of living of the area, raise community pride and foster self- determination and self- development through community- owned business. The supermarket is geared to meet a crucial community need, provide jobs, stimulate economic development and form the core of a cooperative shopping center.

Howardville's rural substation post office is also operated by HACE in the store building.

The cooperative was formed in early 1971. Area residents provided money by purchasing hsares of stock to buy a 2.6- acre site on Highway 61 in Howardville for construction of the 3,500- square foot supermarket.

Construction and operating funds to stock and run the store have come entirely from private sources, such as the Catholic Campaign for Human Development, the Lutheran Church- Missouri Synod, United Presbyterian Church of the USA, Presbyterian Church of the US, United Methodist Church, Ralston-Purina Co., United Auto Workers and American Income Life Insurance Co. of Texas.

The entire effort has been sponsored by the Missouri Delta Ecumenical Ministry (MDEM) headquartered in Hayti. A not- for- profit, interdenominational social action arm of the church, MDEM has been working in the Bootheel since 1965. MDEM's programs are designed to solve the root causes of the area's poverty and help residents develop long- term solutions to their own problems.

The supermarket will serve residents of Howardville as well as residents of the surrounding communities. It was organized by residents with the help of MDEM because of the critical problems Howardville residents faced in traveling to other communities in order to buy groceries. Most of the residents are elderly, do not have transportation and live on fixed incomes primarily from Social Security and welfare.

Besides working with the supermarket project, MDEM is involved with a three-county community credit union, a welfare recipients organization, a community health program, a ministers and mental health training program, a manpower on-the- job training program and is developing a legal services program.

In addition, MDEM is researching projects in community economic development ventures, low-income self- help housing and others.

MDEM is supported by six national church denominations, foundations, corporations and individuals. The staff is made up of ecumenical volunteers and community residents.

Church robbed

About $30 was taken from the office of Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church, 723 Allen Blvd. sometime between 7 p.m. Thursday and 8:30 a.m. Friday.

Police said the thief pried open the office door to get to the money.

CAPETOWN, S. Africa (AP) — An 18-year-old girl rode an Arabian horse more than 1,000 miles from Pretoria to Cape Town, to raise money for underprivileged children and to demonstrate the worth of the breed.

The girl said she found her mount very adaptable and fantastic in traffic.

Agronomist discusses pre-harvest sprays

By THOMAS A. BROWN, JR.
Area Agronomy Specialist

Numerous questions pertaining to the use of pre-harvest sprays for soybeans, cotton, and grain sorghum are being asked by Stoddard County farmers. Information concerning chemicals recommended for use on each of these crops is outlined below.

Paraquat is the only chemical recommended for use as a pre-harvest spray on soybeans to be used for food, feed, or oil purposes.Broadleaf weeds, including cocklebur and pigweed, and grasses can be dessicated by the use of paraquat, and farmers who have a serious problem with these weeds may want to consider using this chemical. Paraquat is not effective against smartweed and related species.

The recommended rate of application for this chemical is one-half to one pint of the commercial product per acre, and the higher rate is suggested if many cockleburs are present in the field. A surfactant should be added at the rate of one quart per 100 gallons of spray. This treatment should be used only when beans are mature and have shed at least one-half of their leaves. There are no limitations on crop utilization.

Defoliation can be an important practice for use in fields of cotton in which cotton is showing rank growth and is slow in maturing. It can be especially important in fields in which boll rot is likely to be a problem.

Defoliation offers several important advantages. Cotton dries more quickly on leaf- free plants; therefore, picking can be started earlier in the morning and after rains. Mature bolls open and dry out earlier, allowing harvest to begin earlier in the season; consequently, harvest is completed earlier with less danger of late bolls being damaged by frost. Lodged cotton will usually straighten up after defoliation. Less trash is added during harvest. Leaf-free plants do not clog picker spingles or stain cotton lint.

For successful defoliation, defoliatiants must be properly applied, and timing is tremendously important. For overall defoliation, the youngest bolls that can be expected to open must be mature. Mature bolls are speckled and feel hard when pressed between the thumb and forefinger. When the boll is cut, even with a sharp knife, the fiber strings out rather than being easily sliced. The seed of mature bolls contain yellow kernels that fill the seed cavity. Defoliating too early can cost you money through reduced yields, low microaire reading, and a lower grade.

For successful defoliation, the temperature must be above 60 degrees Farenheit. The temperature factor often presents a problem in this area as the temperature is often too low for successful overall defoliation after cotton reaches maturity.

For cotton showing rank growth and a heavy bottom crop, bottom defoliation, in which the bottom 15 to 24 inches of the plant is defoliated, is perhaps the best solution. This method will allow you to defoliate before the temperature falls below 60 degrees Farenheit during most seasons. Bottom defoliation allows you to harvest the high-quality bottom crop and leaves sufficient foliage in the top of the plant to feed the top crop to maturity. More information pertaining to bottom defoliation may be obtained upon request at your County University Extension Center.

Several good phosphate and chlorate defoliants are available under a variety of trade names.

Reduced soybean harvest losses

With the outlook for soybean prices being as good as it is for this year's crop, harvesting the soybean crop so as to hold harvest losses to a minimum will pay big dividends this season, according to Thomas A. Brown of Bloomfield, area agronomy specialist.

Extension agents checked harvest losses behind a number of combines in Stoddard County soybean fields during the 1970 and 1971 harvest seasons. Losses behind the 22 combines involved in this survey ranged from a low of .25 bushels per acre to a high of 7.19 bushels per acre, with the average loss amounting to 2.31 bushels per acre.

Assuming a bean price of $2.85 per bushel, which is approximately what beans sold for at harvest time during these two seasons, the dollar losses would have ranged from a low of 71 cents per acre to a high of $20.49 per acre for an average loss of $6.58 per acre. If we assume that we could expect a price of $4 per bushel during harvest time this season, which is as low as current estimates seem to go, this means that the same harvest losses would range from a low of $1 per acre to a high of $28.76 per acre for an average loss of $9.24 per acre. In either case, the figures show that doing a good job of harvesting the soybean crop will be a paying proposition.

Harvesting soybeans before they get too dry can mean a saving of an additional bushel per acre or more. One bushel or 60 pounds at 13 per cent moisture becomes only 58 pounds if beans are harvested at 10 per cent. Consequently, a 30 bushel per acre drops to 29 bushels per acre. Beans should be combined as soon as possible after moisture content of beans reaches 13 to 14 per cent, and farmers should strive to complete bean harvest before the moisture content reaches 10 percent. An Ohio research study showed that bean losses increased one percent per day after moisture content dropped below 10 percent.

Another bushel per acre or more can usually be gained by taking steps to reduce losses associated with cutting the beans. The losses which result from shattering, bean pods left below the cutter bar, lodged stalks, and stalks which do not go into the combine account for approximately 80 per cent of all soybean harvest losses. Shattering usually causes the largest loss. Moisture content of the pod and kernel determine the amount of shattering, so harvesting in the early mornings when stalks are damp will help. Slower forward combine speeds will also help to reduce shattering.

The combine cutter bar should run below all bean pods if possible. The absence of ridges and slow forward speeds of 2½ to 3½ per hour make it easier to keep the cutter. bar close to the ground. Automatic header control devices can be a big help in reducing this type of loss.

The reel which is the first part of the combine to touch the soybean plant can cause heavy shattering. The reel tip speed should be equal to or slightly faster than the ground speed of the combine. The reel bats should penetrate just deep enough to control the plants. The reel axial should be adjusted so that it is six to 12 inches ahead of the cutter bar.

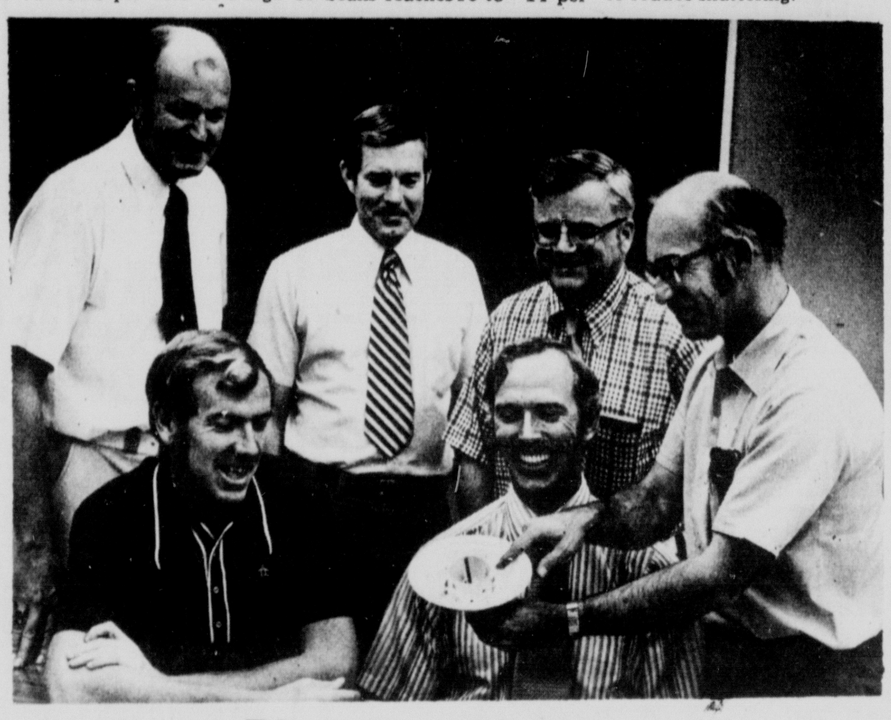

The cylinder speed should be 400 to 500 RPM for a 22 inch cylinder at 12 to 13 percent moisture. At higher moisture content or with damp stalks, the cylinder speeds should be increased. As soybeans dry, the cylinder speeds should be reduced as excessive speeds will crack beans and lower the germination.

The conclave clearance should be set between three-eights and one- half inch and normally is not changed as moisture content changes. Check the operator's manual for the exact setting for your particular combine.

A check on harvest losses can be made by counting the beans in several places behind the combine. Every four to seven beans per square foot, depending upon bean size, represents a loss of one bushel per acre. If losses are high, check each of the following: ground speed, cylinder speed and clearance, reel speed and position, and the tailings from the combine.

Too much has been invested in the soybean crop in terms of time, hard work, and actual dollars to allow excessive harvest losses to rob you of soybean profits which are potentially yours this year.

Male elephant seals may attain a weight of four tons and a length of 20 feet.

Planning next step

Research participants in a successful project aimed at controlling the pink bollworm naturally met at the University of California at Riverside to plan their next step. Showing a new trap he developed for the research is Dr. Lyle K. Gaston. Looking on are, seated, Drs. R. S. Kaae, left, and H. H. Shorey. Standing, left to right, are Dr. George A. Slater of Cotton Incorporated; Dr. Carlton Koehler, representing the Rockefeller Foundation; and Carl Nichols of the California State Department of Agriculture.

Sex secret opens natural control of pink bollworm

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — Scientists at the University of California here have overcome a major obstacle in their search for a pollution- free way to control the pink bollworm, the most destructive cotton pest in Far West states and target of the heaviest uses of insecticides.

A team of entomologists headed by Dr. H. H. Shorey has identified the insect's true sex pheromone, successfully synthesized a chemical duplicate they call "gossyplure," and is testing it as a behavioral control measure.

The sex pheromone is a chemical produced naturally in the body of an insect and given off to stimulate mating behavior in the opposite sex. Shorey's tests of gossyplure mark the first use of a man-made duplicate of insect pheromones to control a major pest as an alternative to poisonous chemicals.

"The achievement of the California research team is being hailed by experts because it promises to lower significantly the amount of insecticides used by western cotton growers.

"It also opens up the possibility of effectively containing an economically important cotton pest that lately has exhibited decided tendencies toward eastward migration," said Shorey.

Working with Shorey were Drs. H. E. Hummel, Lyle K. Gaston and R. S. Kaae, all of the University of California. They published their findings in the August 31 issue of "Science."

Shorey's team has spent the last three years developing techniques for using a near-duplicate of the female pheromone of the pink bollworm called "hexalure." Experiments with hexalure to confuse the male and thwart mating have proven successful enough for cotton growers to request treatments for their fields.

Gossyplure is proving vastly superior to hexalure. Shorey said first tests of his new substance show it to be from 100 to 1,000 times as effective as hexalure.

The principle of gossyplure as a suppression measure is what Shorey calls a "communications disruption technique." The effect is similar to the effect of the odor of onions on man, he said.

"Put a cut onion in a roomful of blindfolded men and any man there can find the onion by the smell," he said. "But put a whole lot of onions around, saturate the room with the odor, and no man can find the source of the smell."

Shorey's experiments with hexalure and gossyplure covered 300 acres in the Coachilla Valley of California.

"We are especially gratified that Shorey's team has succeeded in identifying the true pheromone," said Dr. George A. Slater, associate director of agricultural research for Cotton Incorporated, the research, sales and marketing company sponsored by American cotton gorwers through their dollar- a- bale program.

Cotton Incorporated helped underwrite Shorey's research, along with California growers, who assess themselves for additional cotton insect research through the State Department of Agriculture. Also participating were the Rockefeller Foundation and the University of California Department of Entomology at Riverside.

Shorey's next move will be to attempt gossyplure control of the pink bollworm in the entire Coachilla Valley of California next year.

A committee of entomologists representing funding agencies heard his proposal at a September meeting at the university and indicated their approval.

Following the meeting, Cotton Incorporated announced it is appointing a parent committee for suppression and possible eradication of the pink bollworm to advise the researchers.

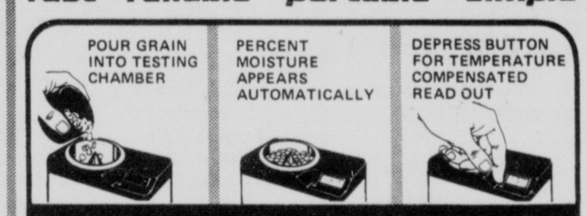

"We believe Dr. Shorey's project will mean as much to cotton growers in the Far West as the pilot boll weevil eradication experiment has meant to growers from Texas to the east coast," said Slater.

The pink bollworm -- or "pinkie," as the pest is known familiarly to cotton entomologists -- has inflicted annual cotton losses estimated at $50 million over the past five years, Slager said.

"The feasibility of using insect pheromones to disrupt communication has now been shown," Slater said, "so the California research ultimately could have real meaning for cotton growers everywhere."
